

Desire, Time, & Effort: Garden of Wonders

This is my working song that I spent time working on
I get my effort on my desires strong I'm working on

Oh my how high your vines have grown
Our garden is so green and overgrown
It's so fun to have some sun to call your own
Sunflower blooms big and over-blown
But I think it's time to pull some weeds indeed
Give our plants all the room they need to breathe
Give them just a little space to grow and thrive
Did you know that a plant can feel your vibes
It can pick up on the inner light that shines
So make sure that you always treat them kind
Make sure that you always keep in mind my green thumb
Could come and blow your mind
That's how my sugar beet got sweet inside
And that's why I won the Nobel Prize
You want to grow grapes that are great to grub
You've got to give them good thoughts and love

This world is a garden of wonders
Where life springs forth from the darkness under
It's a miracle right before your eyes
When we add water to where sunlight shines

You want to garden kids you've got to work
You've got to dig in the dirt and work the earth
Dig rows with your hoes so your seeds can grow
When you plant a seed you can say you sow
Just think in the fall we can harvest our snacks
While we do the Cabbage Patch in the cabbage patch
But right now it's spring when things are born
When water flows between rows of corn
So I wake up at the break of dawn
So I can get my breaking on
If I sleep too long with what I'm taking on
Then I won't have time it will take too long
So that's what I learned in the garden
Is that you've got to work you hardest
You've got to work to harvest
All the fruits of your labor that you earned so honest

(CHORUS)

...working on, we sing a working song....we keep working on.)
