

Resource Resilience #9

What's a question you have about a goal you'd like to achieve?

Who in your life do you think could help you find the answer?

Reach out to that person and arrange to meet and discuss your question. Afterward, email or write a thank-you note to let the person know you appreciate their help.

