

Street Resilience

Classroom Skit Examples

A middle school girl is practicing shot-put when a boy pushes her away from her spot in line and insists that he's going to show her how it's done.

An elderly person in a "hip" café can't get the waiter's attention.

An employer receives a resume from an applicant whose name is not "American." The employer rips up the resume and throws it in the trash.

Two team captains are picking their team members. The last one chosen is someone who can't speak English.

A student is struggling with math or English and is called "stupid" by his/her classmates.

A student can't afford the "right" shoes or name-brand clothing and gets made fun of in the lunchroom in front of his/her peers.